

Eric Smith

Major Eric Smith is an Army Strategist/Planner currently serving as the Campaign Plans Branch Chief at the U.S. Transportation Command at Scott Air Force Base, Illinois. He recently wrote and published the Functional Campaign Plan for Global Deployment and Distribution 9033, which explains how the Command supports deploying the Joint Force from competition through the escalation to armed conflict. He is currently a PhD candidate exploring how Napoleon Bonaparte commanded his armies, especially those armies outside his immediate control. He enjoys rock climbing, backpacking, board gaming, and video gaming.

