

Marshall Lilly

Marshall Lilly is Vice President of Management and Acquisitions for L3 Properties, a commercial real estate firm dealing in acquisition, sales and leasing of strip centers, raw land and development in the DFW area.

He grew up bouncing back and forth from South Carolina and Denton, Texas. He began his academic career at the University of Dallas. While at U.D., he was a student athlete, playing baseball and basketball. He was fortunate to have received five division one scholarship offers to play baseball, including North Carolina State. He chose the University of Dallas because it's a Catholic school and it was close to my family.

Eventually, he transferred to the University of North Texas, where he double majored in History and Archaeology. While at UNT, he founded a chapter of Theta Chi fraternity. He was also very active in the History honor society of Phi Alpha Theta. As of Spring 2016, he became the alum adviser for the Theta Chi chapter at UNT.

After his undergraduate career, he completed a Masters in Ancient History. His thesis work focused on Julian the Apostate and the last pagans of Rome.

In his private time, he enjoys traveling (next stops South Korea and Japan), playing with his dog Banzai, attending sporting events, and spending time with family and friends. He plans to continue working on his doctorate in History. He looks forward to serving on the Executive Council of the Military History Center at the University of North Texas.
